PLEASE BRING THIS REFERRAL TO YOUR APPOINTMENT ON

Gynaecological scans

An internal transvaginal ultrasound is usually performed for gynaecological examinations and in early pregnancy. If this technique is not appropriate for you, please advise our staff and attend with a full bladder.

Obstetric scans

Partners or other support persons are welcome to attend this medical examination. Young unsettled children can be distracting for both you and the doctor performing the scan and your own enjoyment and involvement in the scan may be deminished. Short video clips and still images will be sent to your phone following the scan to share with family and friends.
